Kenneth Henry, 10 Years Old, Surprises Hospital Attendants by His Grit.

Kenneth Henry, son of E. V. Henry of No. 8 Elizabeth court, was credited yesterday with being the most gritty person ever taken into the emergency hospital With his upper jaw bone broken and the bridge of his nose crushed in so that he had to breathe through his mouth, the boy, who will be 10 years old January 15, never made a whimper or uttered a complaint. His stoicism gave at first the impression that the boy was in a stupor, but he answered questions and showed that he knew fully what was going on and that he was badly injured. When asked if the injuries hurt him much, he answered in the affirmative, but there wasn't a quayer in his voice.

The boy is a nephew of Carl P. Redman and Ivor Redman, who drive trucks for J. W. Mellen, dealer in sand and gravel, and is well known to the other drivers for the company. For this reason he is sometimes permitted to ride on the big trucks when he is not selling papers or in school. Yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock he was seated proudly beside H. Johnson of No. 20 Shelmerdine court, who was driving a gravel truck. "You have to nearly lie down to get in here," said the driver, as he started to back under the chute on Second East, hetween South Temple and First South streets, to load the truck. The boy leaned over the back of the seat instead of in front of it and was caught by a low beam, which struck him across his face, wediging him between it and the back of the seat. The driver looked back just in time to save the boy's life, which would have been crushed out had the team backed farther.

Johnson hurrled with the boy to the emergency hospital, where Dr. H. B. Sprague, who was summoned, rendered first aid. He announced the boy painfully and seriously injured, although, he said, except in case of infection the wounds were not dangerous.

After the extent of the injuries were ascertained, Dr. Pinkerton was summoned. He examined the boy's injuries in the emergency hospital and then left him there until arrangements could be made for him at his home, Kenneth was taken home later and an operation, consisting of putting the bones in place and fustening them there to prevent disfigurement, was performed. He also has a scalp wound on the back of his head.

Kenn bridge of his nose crushed in so that he had to breathe through his mouth, the ment, was performed. He also has a scalp wound on the back of his head.

Kenneth's stolcism was reflected in his older brother, Keith, who went to the emergency hospital to see him. Both of the boys attend school and sell papers after school hours and in the mornings, their father being critically ill. Big tears rolled down Keith's cheeks when he looked at his brother's swollen face. He was assured that the injuries were not fatal ones and that his brother would be all right within a few weeks
"Yes, but it will put him behind with his school work," said Keith, as he turned his back on the men and brushed his tears away with a glove covered with coal dust.

UTAH BUTTONS ARE POPULAR IN EAST

J. T. Milner Disposes of 500 While in Chicago and Philadelphia.

"Who got the button? Well, I can tell you who got some of the buttons," J. T. Milner, superintendent of the Utah Gas & Coke company, who left two weeks ago with 500 "I Am for Utah" buttons on a business and pleasure trip to Chicago and Philadelphia. "My friends in Chicago ach got one and almost everyone I met at the National Commercial Gas association convention in Philadelphia got one."

Mr. Milner got back yesterday. He did not know whether to be most pleased over the way he "planted" the buttons, what he saw at the gas convention or the fact that he was back in Sait Lake. He said:

In Chicago I met my folks and lots J. T. Milner, superintendent of the Utah In Chicago I met my folks and lots of old friends around the Feople's Gas company, where I worked for years. The first thing they asked of course, was, 'How do you like Sait Lake?' That was my cue I would flash one of my buttons, stick it in the friend's coat lapel and say, "That's what I think of Utah."

In Philadelphia the Minneapolis delegates to the gas convention were after the next meeting and were wearing "I Am for Minneapolis" buttons. The other people were glad enough to get my "I Am for Utah" buttons to flash back at them. The third night I was there I went to a lodge meeting and almost half the folks there had my buttons on. The next day I passed a lady on the street whom I had never seen before. She had a Utah button on.

Anyone who thinks gas is getting old-fashioned should have seen the exhibit at the Philadelphia convention. New appliances are being brought out every day. One of the most novel things I saw was a device for refrigerating by gas. Sounds funny, doesn't it? But they have them and they hope to bring them into household use.

They have a gas burner under a

They have a gas burner under a tank of ammonia. When the ammonia is heated it turns into gas and the gas goes through pipes in the refrigerator. In condensing it draws all the heat from the surrounding atmosphere and makes the interior ice cold. Then the liquid ammonia is taken out and put back into the tank to be used over ugain. Since ammonia is to be used over again. Since ammo-nia is one of the by-products of the gas plants, the process may be called an "all-gas" process.

The contractors say that the work will be resumed just as soon as the weather permits. At the present time nothing is being done on the building.
